GRIMM'S

Editorial

LIMITLESS PLAY POTENTIAL

Dear GRIMM'S friends,

Our rainbow is not a rainbow. Our rainbow is a ball run and a telephone and a tunnel, a doll's rocking cradle, a layered cake, a fence, a Christmas tree, a barefoot path and the mouth of a smiley face. And that's not all. Seeing it only as a rainbow does not do justice to its true potential.

Children don't need an explanation of what the rainbow can be. What it can be simply emerges from the child's imagination. Adults generally do not follow a path via the imagination, but instead apply logic and want to understand the product first.

We therefore want to use our inspiration pages to show what our play materials 'can' do and demonstrate how valuable the free space for imagination is, especially for children.

To make creative play as varied as possible, all our play materials work together and complement each other. Our idea of a freely combinable range of toys means matching proportions, harmonious colour spheres and an inspiring design language.

Anyone who has discovered the limitless play potential of our play materials will realise how enriching they are and that open-ended play doesn't need much more than adaptable play materials to create fantastic worlds.

With best regards from Hochdorf from the whole GRIMM'S team

OPEN-ENDED PLAY IN THE HERE & NOW

When we say that we make play materials for children out of wood, this is true, but not complete.

Our vision of a good and empowering childhood makes us who we are. Just like ...

… the unique combination of

Educationally valuable

Children can develop particularly well and healthily through open-ended play in a child-friendly environment.

Using their own imagination to shape their play and find creative solutions strengthens them for the future. Cultivating rituals with friends and family gives children a sense of security and stability. Our play materials are inspired by alternative educational approaches such as Waldorf and Montessori … but especially by children themselves.

Tradition & quality

Our family business has been in existence since 1978 and manufactures exclusively in Europe with loving craftsmanship and very high quality standards.

Safety & trust

All our play materials are safe. All colours and oils used are non-toxic, saliva-proof and therefore completely harmless. This is regularly confirmed by internal and external tests in accordance with the European and US standards for toy safety.

Naturalness & sustainability

Wood is renewable, robust and repairable. We use wood from sustainable forestry and preserve the natural properties of this special material during processing.

Cross-age diversity

Our wide range of products is suitable for all ages - which is why we deliberately avoid age recommendations as much as possible. The play materials and furniture grow with the child, which means that the same product can be used in different ways depending on age and ability.
This makes them durable, versatile and sustainable companions for generations to come.

Design & system

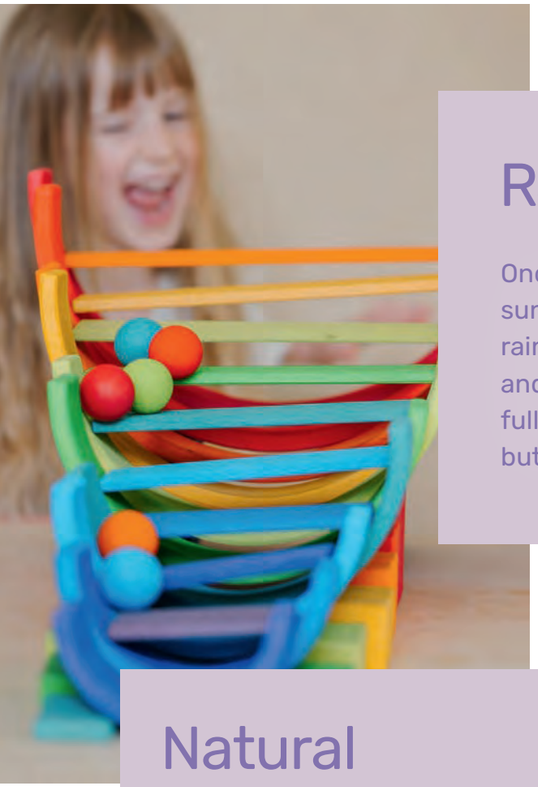

The deliberately minimalist design serves both aesthetics and function. All our play materials & furniture leave room for the imagination and also fit into a well considered system, meaning everything can be combined with everything else.

THE MORE VARIED THE BUILDING MATERIAL
THE MORE EXCITING THE BUILDING EXPERIENCE

5 colour worlds

WE LOVE ALL COLOURS

Rainbow

Once upon a time there was a ray of sunshine and a drop of rain ... Our classic rainbow colours are inspired by nature and its wonders. They are so vibrant and full of positive energy that you can't help but love them.

Natural

Nature, the artist! Our natural colour world proves that less is often more. The individual grain and natural colours bring calm to the eye and warmth to the heart.

Pastel

How light can colours be? Our pastel colours are like a breath of spring air – tends and timeless. And these colours are for EVERYONE!

Neon

Only neon has this much power!
And because colours have a direct effect on our emotional state, it's no wonder that the positive radiance of our neon colour spectrum simply feels really good. A special highlight is the contrast between the delicate and natural tones, which makes the colour harmony just perfect.

Monochrome

The world is not just black or white. Neither is our monochrome colour world. With the two (non-) colours as the main actors, the greatest possible contrast is created and this not only looks good, but is also particularly easy to see - especially for young and old people with visual impairments.

2 shape languages

Organic Shapes

Organic shapes are natural and irregular. Curved and floral elements are suitable as building elements for surprising constructions and special details.

Geometric Shapes

Geometric shapes are straight and regular. They are a good basis for building and provide stability.

Open-ended play with GRIMM'S – but how?

Playing with GRIMM'S play materials is child's play. Children in particular use them intuitively and freely.

Follow us into the fantastic play worlds of our Large Rainbows.

Stacking & Building

Good building materials are versatile and always provide new inspiration for creative constructions.

The more different shapes and colours the building materials have, the more imaginative and lively the building experience becomes.

Play of colours

Colours fascinate and create a sense of aesthetics. From carefully sorted to wildly mixed, anything is possible.

COLOUR BRINGS JOY

Active play

Active games work well both indoors and outdoors and are great for keeping us in balance.

READY, STEADY, GO!

Ball runs

Ball runs never get boring. From very simple to compli-cated, everything is possib-le. First set it up and then it's time to get the balls ready, and go!

Role play

Children like to slip into different roles enabling them to learn to change their perspective and empathise with others, as well as learning a lot about themsel-ves, too.

CRADLE, CAKE, TELEPHONE, ...

Small play worlds

Small play worlds create space for big ideas. And children have plenty of them. Thanks to its diversity, the rainbow becomes fences, tunnels, multi-storey houses and anything else the child's imagination can think of.

Laying pictures

Laying imaginative pictures is a great mixture of meditative patience and an amusing and enjoyable activity. You can create funny faces that express feelings or make oversized mandalas.

7 tips for open-ended play

FOR PLAYING AND GROWING

„Our Rainbow is just standing on the shelf, why isn‘t my child playing with it?“ or „I want to buy my 1-year-old a Large Rainbow - does that already make sense?“

Here are our 7 tips for open-ended-play.

Tip 01
Present the play material disassembled

The rainbow doesn't always have to be stored neatly organised on the shelf. Why not take it apart into its individual parts and present it in a basket? This way, it is more likely to be seen as spontaneous building material.

Tip 02
Everything goes with everything

Everything can be combined with everything else. All of our play materials work together and complement each other thanks to their corresponding proportions and harmonious colour spheres.

Tip 03
There is no wrong – only right

You can't put a building set in the wrong way. Everything is right and above all, everything is possible!

Tip 04
Open-ended play doesn't need guidelines

Children engage in open-ended play intuitively and without instructions. As adults, we can simply let the children play and experience.

Tip 05
The smaller the child, the fewer the parts

In order not to overwhelm smaller children with too much play materials, you can opt to offer only a few selected pieces. In the case of the big rainbow, for example, the larger six layers can be left out at the beginning and gradually added as the child grows.

Tip 07
Integrate packaging into play

Our packaging is not only practical, but also invites children to get creative. They can be integrated into the play moment - make small stages and houses or simply cups for coins or balls.

Tip 06
Complement other materials

Of course, our play materials also work well with other materials. Animal figures, dolls, natural materials or even scraps of fabric, string, buttons etc. all enrich open-ended play and bring their very own playful influence.

Building- and Play Worlds

Our play materials are ideal for building and invite you to play and experience freely. The huge selection of different shapes and colours enables creative building with limitless options.

The world of rainbows

The centrepiece of our building worlds is our classic large rainbow and all its variants. They can be added to and expanded upon as required and can be built on and played with differently depending on age, ability and interest.

The rainbow's diversity makes it a popular introduction to the world of GRIMM'S, but it also remains a real highlight for long-time GRIMM'S fans.

The secret abilities of the stacking tower

Even if it is not necessarily recognisable at first glance, the disc towers, when disassembled into their individual parts, are clearly one of the building materials with a lot of potential. So when the child has outgrown the classic stack with the stacking tower, simply put the individual parts in the basket with building materials.

How versatile can building materials be?

With geometric and organic shapes, in natural wood tones and bright colours and everything you need to build. Despite the straightforward frame shape, in which the building sets are well stored, they are just waiting for a child's imagination to take them beyond any limits.

Rattles & Grasping Toys

Grasping toys and rattles made of natural wood are particularly suitable for first play and sensory exploration. Thanks to the naturalness of the materials, they are absolutely safe and harmless, even for the youngest children.

Grasping toys with super power

To make exploring with all the senses as interesting as possible, we use different shapes and colours for our grasping toys.

The colourful grasping toys are coated with a saliva-safe and completely harmless water-based paint, which leaves the wooden surface naturally open and tactile. This not only feels good to the touch, but also allows the wood to develop its super power, binding moisture to ensure the surface does not become a breeding ground for bacteria.

Soothing effect

Our grasping toys are not only suitable for small hands. With their round and organic shapes, they have the wonderful ability to appeal to people of all ages. They are also ideal for use in therapies, where the pleasant surface of the wood provides natural stimulation and relaxation.

The combination of different woods also offers a variety of experiences with lighter and darker, harder and softer, heavier and lighter and textured and smooth variants.

"We want children to be able to play and discover the world in safety."

Elke Grimm

Rattles

The soft and fine structure of alder wood makes it particularly suitable for our rattles and grasping toys. The surface is treated with natural vegetable oil giving the wood a soft liveliness.

Different shapes, colours and fillings provide variations and each individual rattle has its own lovingly thought-out details.

Push & Pull along

When small children are mobile, play materials with wheels become increasingly popular. Small vehicles and pull-along animals can be taken anywhere and are loyal companions over hill and dale.

Experience adventures together

Our play materials with wheels are extra robust and also suitable for off-road driving. So there's nothing to stop you from taking them outside into nature and playing with them in adventure mode.

HANDMADE IN EUROPE

Colourful World of Dolls

When playing with dolls, children learn to approach the big world in miniature and find their way around it piece by piece. They often act out scenes from their actual lives, except that they themselves are the grown-ups and the dolls take on their roles.

Stacking, Threading & Storing

Stacking, threading and storing encourage children's fine motor skills and create a nice balance between free play, creative design and independent tidying.

A classic with potential

Stacking disc towers are an absolute classic for many parents of toddlers - and rightly so. They arouse the interest of little ones because of individual parts, the holes are great for threading through or looking through and they also look great when assembled.

They also encourage hand-eye coordination. The only drawback? The potential of stacking disc towers is often massively underestimated. Once the children have outgrown the fit and stack game, the individual pieces offer fabulous building material.

CREATIVE FUN FOR EVERYONE

Magnetic games & Boards

Our magnetic games are attractive in the truest sense of the word. The many possible variations of colours and shapes create completely new, imaginative pictures, patterns and nice messages.

Behind the scenes

Blackboards

Playing with the colourful magnets encourgages both the ability to concentrate and the creativity of young and old alike.

The black metal boxes they come packed in can be used directly as a laying surface and the strong contrast makes the colours particularly bright. They can also be taken with you when travelling and are a great activity for long car or train journeys.

Learning & Experiencing

When children start to take an interest in the world of numbers and letters, it is simply a game for them. Learning is particularly enjoyable when different senses are stimulated and complex topics can be grasped with the hands.

GRIMM'S World of numbers

GRIMM'S World of numbers is a series of products designed to make it easier for children to learn numbers and first calculations.

The colours used represent numbers and are used throughout the range of associated products. Children of preschool age and above can thus approach the abstract field of numbers in a playful way, whereby free and unintentional play is still at the centre.

Discovering language

To visualise the world of language, we simply turn it into children's play. Playfully engaging with letters to touch connects several senses. Creative play ideas, such as looking for objects at home that begin with the respective letters, are easy to implement and fun for young and old.

Family celebrations & rituals

Celebrations together are highlights of the year and often have something very special for children. Rituals and traditions give them stability and security and contribute to unforgettable family moments.

We celebrate the seasons

Time is difficult for children to grasp. To help them visualise the days, weeks, months and seasons and their recurring sequences, we have our range of decorations, for the seasons and festivals.

The colour spectra chosen is based on the colours used in Montessori education, namely shades of green for spring, shades of yellow for summer, shades of red for autumn and shades of blue for winter.

Small special everyday moments

A small candle holder for one to three candles or decorations is sometimes enough for a contemplative moment together. It is moments like these that slow down our often fast-paced everyday lives a little and allow us to focus on what is really important. They also fit wonderfully in the centre of a festive ring as a light of life.
